To,
The Honours Committee

Dear Honours Committee,

It is with great pleasure that I write a letter of support nominating Professor Dhiraj Gupta for a King's Honour.

Professor Gupta commenced his career as a Consultant Cardiologist specialising in Electrophysiology at Liverpool Heart and Chest Hospital (then The Cardiothoracic Centre) in 2007 after completing his training in cardiology in India and then in London.

He was instrumental in developing and growing the cardiac Electrophysiology (EP) service at Liverpool to become one of the largest, if not the largest volume EP service in the UK.

He has contributed significantly to research in the field of cardiac arrhythmias and is extremely well published and cited in the scientific literature. He has supervised several post-doctoral students and was granted an Honorary Clinical Professorship by the University of Liverpool in 2019. He and his research group have been awarded research grants worth close to £ 4 million.

He has contributed extensively to training and teaching. He has supported the training of several Senior Clinical Fellows from the UK and abroad at Liverpool Heart and Chest Hospital. He has proctored consultant cardiologists for EP procedures for atrial fibrillation ablation and left atrial appendage occlusion at several hospitals in the UK and overseas.

In recent years, he has also utilised his own time travelling on several occasions to India to perform complex procedures and train cardiologists in Indian hospitals in these procedures. These endeavours have been completed with no pecuniary interest or gain and will contribute towards enabling the local population in these cities and towns to gain wider access to these procedures.

I have personally known Professor Gupta as a colleague since 2007, and it is my privilege to support his nomination.

Yours sincerely,

Manoj Kuduvalli, M.Ch, FRCS (C-Th)
Medical Director
